Classics, modern fiction, non-fiction and more. Written for secondary and adult students the Oxford Bookworms Library has seven reading levels from A1-C1 of the CEFR. On a beautiful summer evening in the quiet town of Marlow, a young woman is walking home from church. She passes a man who is looking at the engine of his car. He turns round, smiles at her...and throws acid into her face. Then her father, the scientist George Ashton, disappears. And her sister, Penny, discovers that her husband-to-be, Malcolm, is a government agent. Why has Ashton disappeared, and why is Malcolm told to hunt for him? Who is George Ashton, anyway? And who is the enemy? CEFR B2/C1 Word count 28,850

The Enemy

By lagouge

Malcolm is a secret agent of the government, enjoying a typical weekend at his father-in-law's house. He is thinking of proposing to Penny to get married, but something terrible happens: someone throws acid in Penny's sister's face (Gillian). George Ashton, Penny's father, leaves the house without telling anybody. So Malcolm decides to start an investigation and discovers more than he is supposed to know.

Ashton is not the man he seemed to be, and the government is involved in every problem. Malcolm is assigned Ashton's case by his boss Ogilvie. In his investigation, he obtains a lot of information, and information is power. At the end, he discovers the truth: the whole situation is led by the government, a lot of secrets, because information is power and the Minister wants everything for his benefit...

In my opinion, this is a really good book, which grips you from the beginning and on every page it becomes more and more interesting. The language is simple and easy to understand, and the reader doesn't know what's happening at all; in every chapter more secrets are revealed, but not all of them. It's just at the end when I understood the problem, the situation that was happening, and everything made sense. I can recommend this book to people who like short, exciting and suspenseful stories.
